

I am watching a film on television and see that there is a lot of nudity. I then choose a movie I have and put it on knowing that it is quite safe but there are a lot of old commercials about other movies that are pornographic. It strikes me to see how the female body has changed in the last years.

I am in front of a restaurant where I have just bought a new tractor. It has double wheels and I realize that it will not fit inside our barn. There is already a truck ready to transport it there but I realize that I can just drive it myself and then think of a place where to park inside my private forest.

I am outside a big house at the bottom of a valley. There are some Eastern European hookers living there and one of them is in a relation with an Italian man. I then wonder how he can stand staying with a woman that his with other random guys. She is also quite ugly like the other hookers.

I am in a corridor observing two aliens looking at one another. Their shape is identical but the face of the one standing on my left is far more complicates. The one standing on the right makes him wear a helmet to see how his face would look like with less features but there are a lot of dots.

I am in an empty mall sitting with some older people when I see my Polish friend approaching. He is very elegant and even has an expensive dog. I then dismiss myself from the other people and approach my friend. He thinks I know the dog and I want to hug it but I just want to hug him.

I am in the apartment of my mountain neighbours and help them cleaning up the kitchen. I then take all the dirty dishes to the sink and start putting them inside the dishwasher but realize that there are already clean dishes inside. I don't know where to put them but find another dishwasher.

I am walking in a city with my welding helmet batteries. I need to bring them to a mechanic so that he can fix them but realize that I also had to bring my van there. I anyway leave them at the reception and the lady at the desk cuts one and sees that the contacts in the connector are frozen.

I am in my parents' new villa in the mountains about to leave. My youngest son is also there and wants to watch the Olympic games on television but I don't want to stay there and see that outside his cousins are learning how to ski and their mother is on a fancy black horse with white hairs.

I am next to a road with another guy who doesn't feel well. He will have to vomit sooner or later and I ask another guy if he knows a place in the forest. He tells me of a path down the road but I first need to pack our jeep with boxes of book I have on the other side of the street in another lot.

I am in our Dutch house and realize that our neighbour is also inside with his wife. I have no idea how he got in especially now that we are not in good terms and I am about to take him by the neck but then see that he got very old. As I also look at his wife they have lost a lot of weight.

I am on a small boat crossing a lake with a guy explaining me how the water there is used for drinking. I am about to reply that it is an ecologic disaster but we go with the boat against a very large fish. It looks dead at first but then see its eye rotating and its body suddenly starting to move.

I am walking inside an apartment that I actually own. I am renting it to three students that I don't know and start searching for an important paper in the room of one of them. He is not there so I feel quite comfortable but one of the other students shows up and I don't know what to tell him.

I am in the house of a Dutch artist. It could be nice if it wasn't that the floors are all different and all in a bad state. He then tells me that they are planning to just pour a type of plastic to make all the floor space homogeneous but some floors are made of wood and they could be nice to restore.

I am in a restaurant and meet one of the cooks working there. He is sitting in the middle of the kitchen peeling vegetables and asks me when I will be back to work with him. I come up with an excuse but he is really not happy about it and demands I have to start working for him right away.

I am in a German museum and see that there is also a famous artist from my native highland. He asks if I want to drive back with his van but I actually have a flight already booked. I almost think it is a good idea to travel together but then realize that I have already blocked him on my phone.

I am on a street with a young girl who is about to leave. She is my girlfriend and we give each other a last kiss even though my children are also there. I actually want to see her only one more time and I tell her that but then she prefers not to see me anymore so that she can remember me.

I am walking in a Brazilian city and cross a bridge. There is a waterfall below it and I try to film it with my camera but there is a fence in front. My Brazilian friend is also there and tells me that a lot of journalists are paid to do the same kind of shot of the city even going down to the waterfall.

I am in a village and realize that my partner has brought our children to school even though it is a holiday. I then make it across a big building to get pick them up but end up in a gym for people to train judo. There is also a library and I find that my kids are there with some unknown teachers.

I am in a town with another guy and reach a high building. There are fists on the wall and I am also carry a long stick with a fist in the end. A local explains us that if I knock one fist with the fist on my stick a prostitute will open up for us in the respective window. The other guy does it.

I am at a party with my best friend. All his friends are there and he introduces me to a blond woman. We have nothing to say and I suddenly drop my phone on the ground I then check if anything got broken but the glass is intact and it is still fully functioning. The woman is still there waiting.

I am in a classroom sitting on the ground with other people. There is a black girl sitting on the other side and I make a comment about her. I realize that the girl sitting next to me is also black and I might have said something racist. I stand up and go to the other black girl to show that I care.

I am in a supermarket and meet a Slavic girl who wants to give me a blowjob. I am not so interested but she says I must buy some condoms. I then think to just buy her some but my kids are running around and their mother is also in the supermarket. I then tell the girl to do it herself.

I am walking in a city and see a guy just hanging over a black pipe followed by his girlfriend. I then film him with my camera and as he manages to go across ask him what kind of sport he is doing. He then takes me to a park to explain me the principle by standing over some old sculptures.

I am working in my Dutch friend's bakery stacking bread on crates. There is actually a special kind I have never seen and try to stack it without using the iron bar in the front but the whole stack falls down. I then call my friend to show me how to stack it but he just throws a lot of flour on it.

I am walking with my partner and her relative to the restaurant on top of our mountain village. As we are about to go inside I notice that three of the four tires of our car are flat. My best friend is also there and decide to drive the car to a repair shop. We do so but one wheel pops out.

I am in an outdoor theater with a lot of students. The professor tells me that I have to decide whether I want to continue his course and gives me a book about it. I then check all his projects and then speak in front of the class on how they are a form of post human computer interaction.

I am looking at a map of a peninsula. Our house is actually to the north east but in order to reach it we have to cross a mountain range. There is a lake on top and I see that there is another further to the east. I wish to visit it but there is no road I can take from the south where I come from.

I am in an abandoned plant nursery and have to demolish the iron skeleton of a huge green house. I have my angle grinder with me but no disks. I then talk to the owner so that he can get me some but he has to order them. He then makes a call and hands me the phone without warning me.

I am working on the top floor of a restaurant and have to bring down a staircase a big box with dirty dishes. There is some anti-slip tape on each step but the more I go down the more it is damaged. I am actually very afraid of falling and just decide to go back up and complain with the owner.

I am in our mountain barn talking to the carpenter who is going to help me with my installations. One of my neighbours also shows up and ask me how I am going to build them. We have not talked in a long time but I anyway show them all the rocks that are now on the other side of the barn.

I am looking at my phone and get a message from my oldest son. It shows the logo of a university with also some banners. He has apparently scored very high and has been accepted as a student but does not have the courage to tell me that he is moving back home to his mother's country.

I am in a field with my partner talking to the Italian Fascist leader. There are some dodgy people around and I just try to protect them. As my partner leaves the Fascist leader asks me to take her to a restaurant with all their relatives. I then get them in a car and realize how low-class they are.

I am having dinner with my parents in their apartment. They are actually silent and I cannot stand it. I then hit the table with my fist and declare that I will leave them for good. I also get my children and walk to the door avoiding my mother who also stands up and wants to give me a last hug.

I am carrying my bike through a corridor and find it noisy. I then realize that there must be an electric motor attach to it but still I do not dare to do go up the slope in front of me. Some guys are going in a tunnel to the right but it will take them days before they are out and I don't feel like it.

I am walking down a hill and meet my old geography professor. He looks exactly as many decades ago other than is now completely bold. I ask him where the leader of his group his and he shows me that he is asleep among other people who are awake. I talk to him but he keeps on sleeping.

I am inside an Italian helicopter with the American president. He looks like he is very happy about the performance of the helicopter and I realize that it is all propaganda since it is an old vehicle and is just trying to make the Italian government happy. I then fear that we might soon crash.

I am in a gallery and search for a friend of a friend. I never met him before so I just call his name. His boyfriend happens to be there and goes out to fetch him. He returns with a very tall middle age man and we start talking about how he works in a chocolate factory like another gay friend.

I am in the back of a bus sitting next to my old Danish classmate. We are actually waiting for the bus to leave again and I realize that other classmates are shopping. I then think it is a good idea to show my Danish classmate what I have been up to building my ark in the Italian mountains.

I am driving to a campsite with my children and reach the gate. They actually get off the car and just walk inside but I still have to choose a site where to pitch. I just find it nice next to a big slide and see that there are already people around it. I actually drive all the way underneath it.

I am biking in my parents' city and see my best friend with another guy biking the other way. He really has no time for me and just apologizes that they have to make it to a meeting. I then turn the other way ad end up in a school where the children are in a big classroom preparing for a choir.

I am with my youngest son walking in a swamp and reach a beautiful lake. My partner and our daughter are walking ahead but we really like it there and decide to stay for a pee. I do it straight in the water and see that there is a beautiful hill on one side and a beautiful island on the other.

I am inside the basement of a right wing politician who is very dumb. I actually left him a speaker for an art project and try to find it among a lot of other equipment he has on a shelf. There is another speaker I gave him but it is now too old and there is also a tablet that is not worth taking.

I am in a hotel room and hear that a friend of mine has been caught carrying potatoes across the border. I then quickly pick all my stuff from the closet but realize that a lot of it belongs to my stepsister. I already put it in a box but have no time to put it back and just put it inside the closet.

I am in an ancient city walking through a portico designed by a little known medieval architect. I then come to a big triumphal arch designed by a Roman emperor. He envisioned that the European unification will turn people queer by adding the relief of a penis in a medal on top of a column.

I am talking to my oldest son on the phone and hear his plan to travel to a South American nation up north. He wants to walk to a Central American nation down south by simply crossing the borders and I think it is a good idea but then realize that all these places he mentions are dangerous.

I am walking around an airport to pick up the car I left in a parking lot on the other side. My parents are also there and I realize that they came to welcome some international students who traveled with me. I don't have to follow them and just try to look for my car but find a little aircraft.

I am watching television and realize that the national football team is going to play the world cup final. I then search for a channel talking about the event and find one in which all the speakers talk in very positive terms. They say that all the good players have been recruited and we will win.

I am laying on a road with two pretty girls. I am actually already engaged with one but feel the head of the other getting closer to me. The one I am engaged with just gets my hands and the other gets very jealous. We then follow her inside a museum where she works and she locks us inside.

I am walking to a pizzeria and meet a former basketball player. I then tell him that another famous player is coming but my uncle shows up instead. We then go inside and also meet my cousin who just committed suicide. As we order pizzas my uncle tells me how he as his wedding best man.

I am in a hospital where the doctor is checking my shoulder and just tells me that I should just keep moving it. I then walk out and find myself on top of a staircase. Another man is there walking with his friends and telling them how he also has a knee problem and the doctor told him to move.

I am in the living room of our Dutch house when I receive a message from my oldest son. As I wait for it to download I try to imagine what it is and come to think of a picture we took together. It is only the schedule of a flight but I realize it is one I booked a long time ago when he was still a kid.

I am in a field with my children and notice a sculptor fixing an alley. He wants my children on his truck and I take a picture of them while they drive backward. I also get on the truck and we start going through a very nice land with green hills that reminded me of my native highland.

I am at a bus stop ready to attend a history course but a guy tells me I better take the train. I still have some time to get in the station but I have to ask another guy where to go. He then tells me of another platform and I walk down the station into a big marble hall where I meet an old friend.

I am walking through an old city when a big march comes my way. It is rather violent and I search for a place not to get hurt. I end up in an old staircase facing beautiful river and I try to film it but it is too slippery. I just sit down and a beautiful girl comes my way and she lays on top of me.

I am on a beach with other friends and start walking in search for cleaner water. We come to a place with a lot of stones and there the water is transparent but there is no shadow. I can see a tree further ahead but we will have to walk on the stones and I decide just to swim all the way there.

I am cooking in the kitchen of our Dutch house when my best friend comes inside. He is very sweaty and I ask him what is the matter. He still has a lot of work to do but tells me he has a fever. I then suggest him to go to bed but he takes a pot of black tea from the stove and wants to drink it.

I am walking in a town with my partner and come to a corner where there are a lot of antiques. She actually spots a self-standing small mirror she could use in the bathroom. It doesn't look so steady but as she is about to also give a lady the money I am faster and give the latter my money.

I am in a big restaurant where my mother and her new husband are getting married. I really cannot handle it and just leave but an old family friend tries to stop me. As he tries to explain to me the reasons why I should stay my brother-in-law comes and accuses me of having stolen a knife.

I am locked in a hotel room with my partner. There are people waiting for us and we cannot use the door to escape. We then make it through the window and walk on the main road out of the resort. A car approaches but it is too dark and we manage to reach our van. It is too high to get in.

I am in a small apartment with an old friend and notice that the glass is missing from the kitchen window. I then realize someone has made it inside and find my mother sitting on the floor. I try to ignore her and just get some old chestnuts to eat but she tells me that she has some fresh ones.

I am in a city biking on a tandem with a girl. We actually reach a bay where I want to take a picture of us. As I arrange the camera the girl disappears and the tandem ends up in the water. I feel quite desperate and ask for help but then realize that with only one hand I am able to pull it up.

I am on a bus writing to my spiritual friend who is actually in a town nearby. I then go up to the driver to ask her is she knows where this town is but she pulls next to another driver and starts chatting with her. I think they are going to switch but our driver just stands up to stretch her back.

I am outside of a compound preparing all my equipment in a small truck. I am going to build an installation in the mountains and I also take two workers with me and let them sit in the open trailer. I sit next to my ex wife but she begins driving and there are many boxes squeezing me.

I am driving my van on a road filled with bikers. As I try to pass them before a tunnel I notice that also my children are biking. I then park the van and get my bike out but they go ahead and there are some big steps I am not able to cross. I do them one by one lifting the bike and walking down.

I am in a house with a lot of pictures on the wall. I notice that there are other pictures behind each frame and I start to check them. There are also some black and white photos and one of them shows two boys in front of my native village in the mountains. They could be my father's friends.

I am at a dinner talking to a fat guy who keeps on eating. I have nothing to tell him and just focus on a couple talking about American animations. They like them but I say that they distort the meaning of the original stories. The woman then puts up a musical dancing with an older woman.

I am in a square and talk to an American guy sitting on a chair. I then notice an American couple I know and go to greet them. They want to visit the city and I suggest them a very nice walk on the hills. I take them there but the man gives me a big bag of trash that has not been sorted.

I am in my native town with my spiritual friend. We are walking on a sidewalk and make it down a slope talking about another friend who travels around the world. I am not positive about him but then realize that also my spiritual friend travels around and become very positive about the other.

I am in a forest with my mountain village neighbours. The whole family is there and they seem nice. I start commenting on how fresh it is under the big pine trees but they get going. I wonder where to and they tell me they are making it to the seaside where there are no trees and no shadow.

I am in a shop and see that there is a box of puppets for sale. I get it for my youngest son together with another. The lady at the cashier shows me tells me I have to pay a lot of money and I decide to remove the last game I took. It is still a lot of money and she tells me the price is per puppet.

I am at a gas station and see that the family of my partner's older brother has arrived. I wonder if they managed to pick up my son on the way but they thought they had to do it the following day. I then call my son to hear if I have to pick him up but he is in a meeting and he will take a taxi.

I am in a house sitting in the bathroom but my pooh gets stuck. I then try to pull up the bigger pieces with my hands but some of them fall in the bag of grocery I have. I then leave it all there and get away from the flooding brown water. I want to escape the house but outside is snowing.

I am home when I get a message from a friend in the mountains. She tells me how with another friend they are going to have a meeting with a potential sponsor. They want to move on with the sculptural park even though I have already worked so hard for it with the local municipality.

I am walking with two other artists along a river and cross to the opposite side where there is a tree with big leaves. I then get the idea of putting the sculpture of a giant insect eating the leaves. There is going to be an art biennial soon and I see it as a good opportunity but they find it stupid.

I am on the terrace of a big building with a lot of young people. It is time to leave and I follow them down a narrow staircase that keeps on twisting around as if it was a labyrinth. It is very slow and I am getting very claustrophobic and impatient. I then see that I can just jump down and do it.

I am in a night club listening to an old rock star playing hip hop music with his guitar. I then try to close my eyes and dance to the rhythm. I feel quite captivated but get sucked it by the crowd. I then open my eyes again and see that around me are very ugly old women and I try to leave.

I am on a plane flying over the sea. We are actually close to the airport but the pilot announces that they have to save time and just start launching the plane up and down to the water level as if it was a bird. At one point he also does it right on the airport strip but this time we finally land.

I am a laundry room when a Croatian curator comes. She sees some of my illustrations and starts looking at them. She wants them for one of her shows but my drawings are much better and I want to go to my studio to get them so that she can see them but she is fine with my illustrations.

I am in a corridor between two kitchens and hear two cooks talking about me in the one to the left. They say that I am demotivated and that another cook is worth nothing. The latter is actually in the kitchen to the right washing a lot of plates. I could help him with them but don't feel like it.

I am sitting at one end of a club when a girl sits next to me. She asks me to go on a dating site so that we can get to know each other but I just tell her we can just talk face to face. She then tells me that she is just skeptical because she doesn't know how I taste and she might be disappointed.

I am in a Australian market with my youngest son when he suddenly runs away from me. I then follow him and see that he made it to a beach. I have my camera around my waist but see that the water is shallow and I get my feet inside with him. We then reach a lagoon with transparent water.

I am in a parking lot talking to two clerks about my sculptural park. They wonder why I was sent there to talk to them and I say that it is because they have to take care of the promotion of the park. Another woman is with me and claims that they have to protect me from the fascist politicians.

I am in a shop and notice that one of the ladies working there goes around with a skateboard. I also take one but there are a few things on the way. I manage to pass through them and make it to a straight corridor where I keep on going faster and faster until a lady with a dog blocks my way.

I am outside a big American pub full of people. I anyway decide to go inside but some guys tell me off because I am wearing the jacket of their football team. I feel quite intimidated and go out again only to discover that the jacket was about my old swimming team and they were mistaken.

I am walking in a street at night and realize that my children are around by themselves. They might get run over and as I try to look for them I see a car coming really fast. He is actually my youngest son driving and following him is his sister coming with a scooter and without any lights on.

I am working as a waiter in a restaurant and I am given some spaghetti to hang on a metal board. I need to use them to compose the menu but they do not stick to the board and I have to throw them away. I then go back to the kitchen and ask the manager to help me but she asks a cook.

I am in a club with other talented artists when a very famous musician comes. He has been paid to give us a workshop and starts a program on his computer. His face is much uglier than in the photos but suddenly small grass grows on it like the one in his screen and we navigate in a cave.

I am in a square at night with my Australian friend. I suddenly see another Australian woman I know and tel her I have my friend here with me. As I introduce them I feel very awkward because he is tiny and his name is actually Spanish. I then have to explain that his parents are Chileans.

I am on a train with my children and my partner. The latter is driving on a street covered in snow and I have to help her avoiding some trucks that are coming our way. She cannot brake and I jump out of the train to warn a group of students who are in the middle of the road and do not move.

I am in my grandmother's family villa and see that one of my cousins is there. She makes me come inside even though the villa has been sold a long time ago. I then follow her to a room and she tells me to climb up a ladder but it breaks. I then make one piling up the tables and chairs.

I am in a living room sitting on an armchair with the wife of my partner's older brother also sitting next to me. We are watching a series and come to the end of an episode. She puts another episode although it is quite late and I realize it is based in my parents city but there are no mountains.

I am on a street at night and see an old American car pulling on one side. A big man comes out and I realize he is my Dutch employer. He is angry with a woman who forged his passport putting a selfie inside. They then get in her apartment and he tells on how he fell when he was fat boy.

I am writing to an Italian artist friend if he wants to buy some land below our mountain village. I think he is going to be very happy about it but he replies that he is only interested if there are other artists. I then show him how I have just created a collective with many creative people.

I am at a party building some large sculptures. I already made the frames and have covered them with towels but when the music begins the vibrations brittle the cement around them. I find it a total failure but people start dancing around them and are very impressed with the towel colours.

I am working with my computer trying to find an image of a robot. I find an animation but it only shows how the robot is built in the inside and how to download a package to use it to animate. I am not interested but inadvertently play a sample with music and I cannot turn the volume off.

I am driving a car with my partner and come down of a dike. We are actually in the street of our Dutch house but my partner wants to drive further. I want to get off and she pulls on the opposite side but I also need to bring in some jars filled with artichokes. I just manage a few at the time.

I am on my way to hike up a mountain at the edge of my native highland. I pass next to a house where a young couple has just moved in. I think they are in a beautiful spot but they start to complain loudly about the traffic. Their neighbour has a house more in the forest and is very happy.

I am in an apartment with some old friends when another old friend comes in to tell us about my best friend. He was biking down a path when a missile came down from the sky and almost hit him. He just fell off his bike and I am tempted to write him and ask more details about the blast.

I am with a girl walking on a path in the mountains and suddenly come to the top of a beautiful valley with very high mountains and a lake below it. I feel very afraid to walk down but see that if we keep to the right we can ski. We then do so and reach the bottom where there are drunk girls.

I am in a field with boars and I try to film them but a guy comes forward and start kicking them down. I then warn him that they could attack him but he ignores me and just talk to another person about the fact that they are all females. I then understand that he knew they were harmless.